Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hancock et al. 6,484,913.

Hancock teaches a utility holding device comprising a pivotable support base 14, 38, 40, 66, with a u-bolt 28 which is adjustable relative to the pivoting support base, a bottom V-shaped surface, an offset member 70, 76, 80, and a U-shaped holding member 98 comprising upright arms, resilient fingers, hold down attachments, and balls.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hancock et al. 6,484,913 in view of Meeks 6,199,734.

Hancock teaches the claimed invention except that the structure which it is bolted to comprises a cylindrical handle bar instead of a flat panel. Meeks teaches a similar invention in which a holding device 10 is mounted to a flat panel surface 12. To modify the invention of Hancock to allow its mounting to a flat panel surface in the manner as taught by Meeks would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to allow the use of the Hancock device on a flat panel rack of an ATV.

5. Claims 10-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hancock et al. 6,484,913 in view of Gates et al. 6,626,339.

Hancock teaches the claimed invention except for the concept of mounting his device to a cargo rack. Gates teaches a similar utility holding device wherein in column 2 lines 49-53, this concept of mounting a holding device to a utility rack is taught as an equivalent means to a handlebar of an ATV. This therefore is an art equivalent means which would have been obvious.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
